Description

In order to introduce dataone into morpho, we need include the d1_common_java d1_libclient_java and their dependency jar files.

We may manually check in those released version jar files into the morpho library. However, during the implementaion of morpho, developers may also make some modification on d1_common_java and d1_libclient_jar as well. In order to bring the changes made locally or just committed to trunk (not in the release tag), we may need moven-ant-task.jar file to the morpho ant build.xml.
