Description These embargo rules allow data to be published in the system, but not released until a particular date. By operating this way, users can use the system in their daily management of their data without worry of losing track of publication of the data at a later date. It encourages people to start using the system even long before they want to publicly release the data. Fit Criteria   *
