Description

The GMN documentation at:

http://www.pythonhosted.org/dataone.generic_member_node/setup-env-registration.html refers to logging into the CN to register a user identity at:

<https://cn.dataone.org/portal>

The portal user interface has been replaced by the login functionality in the new search system, which handles both authenticating a person and registering them with DataONE. The documentation should point people to <https://search.dataone.org> and related sites for them to login and register with CILogon and other services.

History

I do not recall deprecation of the portal in favor the search UI for account management being discussed or added to the work plan.
