Description
The Objectively Analyzed air-sea Fluxes (OAFflux) project is a research and development project focusing on global air-sea heat, moisture, and momentum fluxes. The project is committed to produce high-quality, long-term, global ocean surface forcing datasets from the late 1950s to the present to serve the needs of the ocean and climate communities on the characterization, attribution, modeling, and understanding of variability and long-term change in the atmosphere and the oceans. - Links überprüft 14.6.2017 Re AKA: WHOI OAFflux Project Objectively Analyzed air-sea Fluxes for the Global Oceans
